THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Nov. 4.—Speculators were disappointed in their hopes of a rise in prices in today's stock market, of which they fancied that the active buying movement at the closing of Saturday's market after the appearance of an important bond issue statement was a precursor. Report continued reassuring today of the favorable progress of the negotiations over the Northern Pacific-Great Northern matter, but there is room for the question how far the forthcoming announcement of the result has been already discounted. The benefit of such a development as removing a threatened cause of damage to security values is self-evident, but the financial project which these negotiations seek to adjust on a permanent basis has lost its magical power of appeal to the speculative imagination.

Individual price movements in today's market don't call for special mention except for the liquidation evident in People's Gas and sharp advances in the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg stocks, amounting to 5½ points in the common and 7 points in the preferred. The market closed dull and heavy but at some recovery from the lowest, Union Pacific reaching a fraction over Saturday in the final dealing. Total sales today, 44,100 shares.

Railroad bonds were irregular. Total sales par value, $3,045,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.
